Suharto Group Wrestles With Cabinet Choice

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesia's new leaders met again with President Sukarno today without reaching agreement on a new anti-Communist Cabinet to cope with the nation's political and economic chaos.

The meeting brought Sukarno together with a presidium of key civilian and military representatives who have been trying to forge a Cabinet for four days. Another meeting was scheduled later today, sources said.

There was concern in some quarters that unless the presidium reached a decision on a new Cabinet soon, the students who toppled Sukarno's 100-man Cabinet would again stage street demonstrations.

Capital Quiet
Meanwhile, Jakarta remained calm and the military shortened the nightly curfew by 3½ hours.

While the presidium deliberated, influential political parties expressed their support for Suharto.

Islamic members of the House of Representatives called on Suharto to restore the House to "its real authority and function" instead of using it as a rubber stamp as Sukarno did for years.

Sukarno appeared at a Pakistani reception Wednesday night and declared: "I am still president of Indonesia. I am still supreme commander of the armed

The second blizzard in a month had broken up today, but it left the north central and Plains states buried under massive snows. Schools and roads were closed and at least 21 persons were dead.

Nebraska counted 11 dead from the early spring storm. Minnesota and Iowa each had three dead. South Dakota and Wyoming had two deaths each. The storm hurled a one-two punch of sleet and snow at most of the area. The ice ripped down power lines and powerful winds stacked the snow into impassable drifts.

Travel was virtually halted over the area.

Northerly winds whipped across the storm-stricken region, fanning unseasonably cold air across much of the nation's midsection. Temperatures dropped to the teens from the Dakotas southward to Kansas, with the mercury slipping below zero in northern Minnesota.

Four men were found dead in a car stalled just east of Howells in northeastern Nebraska Wednesday. Police said they had suffocated.

A man driving a snowplow found two brothers dead in a stalled truck near Greeley, Neb. Minneapolis-St. Paul, part of the area which escaped the Dakotas-Montana blizzard three weeks ago, was in the eye of this week's storm. The area lay under 14 inches of snow, with winds whipping drifts to 4 feet.

Twin Cities Paralyzed
Much of the Twin Cities business was paralyzed Wednesday. Of the more than one million persons in the two cities, there are about 700,000 workers and most were unable to get to their jobs, according to an unofficial survey of some employers.

Courts, schools and business places were closed and an estimated $1 million business was lost for the day. Bus lines and taxicabs were unable to operate until late Wednesday night and the Minneapolis-St. Paul Airport was closed from 3:30 a. m. to 10:30 p. m.

Norfolk in northeastern Nebraska had 10 inches of snow on top of a 2-inch layer of slush and

Bomb Hoist Climax Soon

PALOMARES BEACH, Spain (AP) — operations to recover the U.S. H-bomb missing off the Spanish coast appeared to be reaching a climax today. But no official word predict exactly when the nuclear weapon would be hoisted aboard a waiting U.S. Navy ship.

Two small ships were about five miles offshore at the point where the H-bomb was located March 15.

A midjet sub was working with the two surface craft in an effort to snare the bomb from the bottom 2,500 feet down and attach cables so it could be pulled to the surface.

Other ships remained at anchor near the shore. There was a minimum of activity, as though word from the sea depths was awaited.

The bomb was flung from a crashing B52 bomber Jan. 17.

By The Associated Press

Winter roared back into the western Upper Peninsula Wednesday, piling up four-foot snow drifts and closing schools.

The storm, part of the blizzard that whipped through the upper Midwest the past two days, deposited 11 inches of snow at Houghton and closed schools today in the Marquette, Houghton and Iron Mountain areas.

K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base was closed to all nonessential aircraft. Marquette airport reported 22 inches of snow on the ground.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said that although the brunt of the storm has passed, snow flurries would continue throughout most of Michigan today.

Roads in the western Lower Peninsula were snow covered and slippery today.

Minnesota in Minneapolis closed Wednesday for the first time in its history.

Minnesota Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag shared the fate of thousands of motorists — his car got stuck in a driveway.

Drifts up to 10 feet isolated some sections of northwestern Iowa. Spencer, a town of 9,000, was without power since Tuesday night.

The storm continued to buffet Iowa and the Upper Great Lakes. Blizzard warnings were in effect for Iowa and the snow belt extended into Upper Michigan.

Winds measured at 50 miles per hour accompanied the vigorous storm, whipping the snow into walls of drifts.

Hits U. P.
Three inches of snow had fallen in Marquette, Mich.

Deadwood, S.D., had 19 inches of snow. More than a foot covered many areas in southern Minnesota.

Waitress Held In Knife Death

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Miss Patricia Bushell, 27, of Lake Leelanau, demanded examination Wednesday in police court on a charge of murder in the knife death of Otto G. Malek 57, of Grand Rapids.

Judge Robert Verrier ordered the Traverse City area waitress held without bond pending a hearing March 30.

Miss Bushell was arrested Tuesday night less than 90 minutes after Malek was found dead in his northeast Grand Rapids apartment. Arresting officers quoted her saying she stabbed Malek with a paring knife when he made advances toward her after the two had dined at his apartment.

Strike Threat Raised By Two Union Groups

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unions which represent 100,000 soft coal miners and 34,000 airline mechanics are threatening to strike in support of demands for pay increases which exceed the administration's wage guidelines.

Neither threatened walkout is imminent, however.

At a New York meeting Wednesday, the National Policy Committee of the Independent United Mine Workers of America gave union officers the right to call a strike to support efforts to gain a 4 per cent pay raise for the 100,000 soft coal workers in 25 states.

Five Airlines
But the union would first have to give a 60-day notice of intention to terminate the present contract, and there was no indication when such a step might be taken.

At about the same time, the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists issued a statement here that it would strike five airlines — Eastern, National, Northwest, Trans World and United — unless a deadlock in negotiations is broken by April 23.

The machinists seek a 15 per cent pay hike.

Ignore Guidelines
President Johnson has called repeatedly on unions to hold wage demands within 3.2 per cent on the theory that such an increase would be offset by productivity advances and therefore would not be inflationary.

A strike by the mine workers would be the first major one in the industry in 17 years.

The policy committee took just 25 minutes to authorize the union's leadership to call a strike. Union officials planned to return here today to continue negotiations with representatives of the Bituminous Coal Operators Association.

In seeking a 4 per cent increase over the current daily pay rate of $26.25, the mine workers' union contends the soft coal industry is one of the most automated in the nation with an average annual increase in productivity of about 5 per cent since 1964.

B52 Raids Cut Cong Will To Continue Fight

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — America's B52 bombers in 191 massive raids on South Viet Nam have ripped old Viet Cong jungle hideouts apart and sharply reduced the Communist will and ability to fight.

This conclusion was reached today in official quarters after a detailed study of the raids which started last June and now are almost daily occurrences.

The assaults average 10 B52s from Guam to a mission. Each carries 50 750-pound bombs, a total of 375,000 pounds of steel and explosives for each flight.

When the raids started, about 1,000 Viet Cong were defecting each month to the Saigon government forces. The number now is double that. Many told interrogators the big bombers were making life intolerable for the guerrillas, wrecking their rest havens and hospitals, their hitherto safe tunnels and caves, and destroying precious food caches. Some ground sweeps by troops have substantiated these reports.

Hurt Morale
Thus the military chalks up a two-fold value for the assaults: The tangible that can be seen and the intangible effect on enemy morale.

The B52s, designed originally to carry nuclear weapons, have been modified for the Vietnamese war and have even been employed in tactical support — the last thing in the minds of the plane's designers.

But Lt. Gen. Lewis W. Walt, commander of the U.S. Marines in Viet Nam, radioed the Strategic Air Command after a tactical mission last December: "We are delighted. The timing was precise. The bombing accurate and the over-all effect awesome to behold. Many thanks. Come again."

Principally, though, the assaults are strategic in nature. Flying at 40,000 feet, the bombers cannot be heard from the ground and the enemy doesn't know it is under attack until it has already happened.

Many Gains
The targets are selected here and SAC takes it from there. The bombers' sophisticated instruments are more accurate than human skill; senior Air Force officers maintain the B52s can "drop their loads onto a rain barrel."

Here's the way high U.S. officials evaluate the strikes:

—The havens are being ruined.

—Deserters are increasing.

—The civilian population in areas under the thumb of the Viet Cong, who are forced to work for the Communists, are moving out of the target zones. The guerrillas are now being saddled with extra work, and they are in trouble as a consequence.

—And finally, the more new holes the Viet Cong has to dig for hideouts, the less fighting he's able to do in the field.

Archbishop Says Marriage Stand Is Major Hurdle

ROME (AP) — Pope Paul VI and the Archbishop of Canterbury pledged today that their churches would work toward unity. But the archbishop said afterward the Roman Catholic Church's stand on mixed marriage still was a major barrier.

Archbishop Michael Ramsey made his statement on mixed marriage after he and Pope Paul had prayed together in the Pontifical Basilica of St. Paul's and had issued a joint declaration committing their churches to an active program of collaboration to bring them closer together.

That was the climax of the archbishop's historic three-day visit here—the first by an Anglican primate since the Church of England broke away from the Vatican in 1534.

Not Satisfied
But the bombshell came several hours later at a news conference. There the archbishop said that Pope Paul's recent easing of mixed marriage regulations "does not satisfy the consciences of Anglican Christians and other non-Roman Catholic Christians."

Dr. Ramsey said he had told the Pope this in their private meeting Wednesday night to discuss ways to better relations between the half-billion-member Roman Catholic Church and the 45-million member Anglican Communion.

Six-Year-Old Leads Boycott

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) —

"Shape it up, or ship it out." The message, carried on a sign by a youthful picket, speaks for itself at a grade school in suburban Wyoming where pupils are boycotting their school lunchroom.

The food, the pupils say, just isn't as good as what mom fixes.

Leader of the protest, 6-year-old Steven Rogers, says, "Someone has to do something about this situation."

The boycott has gone two days. Officials made no attempt to stop it Wednesday.

"We didn't squelch the picketing or the boycotting," said Superintendent Harold Bush. "It was great fun for the kids. The food isn't really that bad."

Assistant Principal Ralph Meece explained he couldn't go along with the youthful picketing, "but I do sympathize with them."

Meece said he usually brings his own lunch to school.

Wednesday, Bush said, some 60 children ordered lunch. The average before the boycott was more than 100. Enrollment at the school is 250.

Bush said it wasn't a question of wasting food as "we only prepare what children ask for at the beginning of the day. For 35 cents, the kids get as good food as any served in other elementary schools."

46 Low Flying Satellites Fit Photo Mission

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — The Soviet Union has orbited 46 satellites which probably were spy-in-the-sky spacecraft, according to one of the Johnson administration's specialists on Soviet space activities.

"Nobody has suggested anything other than photo reconnaissance" for a particular series of unmanned Cosmos satellites, said Dr. Charles S. Sheldon II, senior member of the National Aeronautics and Space Council's professional staff.

The council is the President's top advisory group on U.S. space policies.

The 46 satellites — launched since 1962, including five this year — "don't fit any pattern" of scientific, navigational or communications-type satellites, Sheldon said.

They Disappear
"They fly low — 100 to 200 miles above the earth — and after eight days they disappear from orbit," probably to be recovered so film inside can be removed, the space expert said.

Sheldon, who came to Orlando to speak to local members of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics, said he doubts the Soviet Union intends to place warheads in orbit as a threat to the United States, however, because it could not do so without being discovered.

Concerning the race to the moon, Sheldon predicted the Soviets may soon launch a large unmanned space station and follow up with a smaller space ship with men inside to rendezvous with it.

Have Big Capacity
Sheldon said Wednesday he believes the Soviets could hoist an orbiting laboratory weighing from 40,000 to 50,000 pounds into orbit, "and you could get a lot of people inside a space station that weighs 50,000 pounds."

He also quoted Soviet cosmonauts who suggested the Soviet Union will put up five or more men in the near future.

"The Russians have several options and it's only a guessing game which will come first," Sheldon said. "They need extended time in orbit — perhaps 14 to 30 days for a single mission — and their greatest lack of all has been the failure to demonstrate maneuvering capability."

Group Will Ask Solon Pay Hike

LANSING (AP) — A special committee on legislative salaries will recommend a pay hike for lawmakers, says Chairman James K. Pollock.

The recommendations of the 12-member committee will be released in Lansing April 18, Pollock said after a meeting with legislative leaders and Gov. George Romney Wednesday.

He declined, however, to comment on the recommendations or on reports that the committee plans to ask for a $5,000 salary hike for lawmakers.

Lawmakers now receive $10,000 a year plus $2,500 in expense money.

Pollock visited Senate Majority Leader Raymond Dzendzel, D-Detroit, House Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit and Romney "to give them a general picture of what the committee has in mind and to notify them as to when we would make our report."

The committee was established by a Senate resolution. Romney appointed six of its members pursuant to the terms of the resolution.

Legislative salaries "are just one aspect of this report," Pollock said. "It will concern itself with strengthening the legislature and improving the legislative process in general."

Newsprint Price Boost Is Halved

NEW YORK (AP) — Three more newsprint producers—Consolidated Paper Corp., Ltd., Kruger Pulp and Paper, Ltd., and Abitibi Paper Co.—have cut in half previously announced $10-a-ton price increases.

So far six newsprint companies have backed down on boosting newsprint as much as $10 a ton and have substituted $5 boosts. The original increases generally would have gone into effect April 1. The revised increases will become effective May 16.

Lost Radioactive Capsule Sought In Storm Area

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—An intensive search continued today for a radioactive capsule lost on a shipwreck in Montana.

"We've been hunting for two weeks," said a spokesman for United Buckingham Freight Lines.

The truck line was shipping it from Casper, Wyo., to Shelby, Mont. It was last seen at Billings, Mont.

"It's in a bright orange container about the size of a small hot water tank," the spokesman said.

Officials of the Atomic Energy Commission said the capsule would be dangerous only if its shielded container were removed.

Management Firm Centers U.P. Operations Here

Management Science, Inc., this community's fastest growing business services organization, intends to make Escanaba its Upper Peninsula headquarters, company spokesmen said today.

Providing management services to business and industry, using the latest systems and computer techniques, is the goal of Management Science, Inc., and its affiliated company, Central States Management Consultants, Inc., with central offices in Appleton.

Management Consultants was organized in 1962 and Management Science in 1964. The latter has been located in Escanaba only six months—six very busy months.

Back of the success story is the personality of Willard L. Kern of Appleton, who is president and treasurer of the companies and has held key positions with five major corporations. He studied industrial education at Southern Illinois University and industrial engineering at Bradley University.

Its facilities at Appleton, the home office, include complete electronic data processing equipment including a high speed digital computer. From this central client companies, regardless of size, have available to them computer prepared reports and entirely computerized procedures.

In addition, there is a management seminar center at Appleton, offering classroom business training, plus facilities for making still and motion pictures.

The Escanaba office of the firm is at 2201 Ludington St., its second "home" here. The first was outgrown within a couple of months and required the move to larger quarters.

Robert Kronschnabel and Richard Mathy, two of the four or five resident consultants from Appleton who are here throughout the week in work for the firm's clients, described the facilities of the Escanaba office.

Vote At Age 18?

Youth Unready, Students Agree

Should young adults of Michigan 18-21 years old be given the vote?

Holy Name High School juniors and seniors in the majority believe they should not.

In January of this year a Senate Joint Resolution, referred to the Committee on Judiciary, proposed an amendment "granting the elective franchise to persons 18 years of age and over" should be submitted to the people of the state for referendum.

The Michigan Youth Council has been active in encouraging youth to discuss and present in a democratic way their ideas and opinions on whether 18-21 year old young adults do have the ability to vote intelligently. At Holy Name High School the senior government classes seriously considered the question before an audience of the junior social studies classes, Father Lawrence Gauthier, the principals, and members of the faculty.

Points for discussion included: Whether the young adult possesses sufficient education that would arouse his interest and desire to vote, whether he possesses emotional maturity, is able to weigh facts and make decisions. That he has earned the right to vote was evidenced by the facts that the young adult marries, begins to raise a family, pays taxes, signs contracts, enters military service.

Since the greatest number of the nation's population is in the age bracket of 18-25, could this opportunity for voting among the young people affect the quality of voting in our country? That young people can carry the responsibility of voting has been the experience of four states — Hawaii, Kentucky, Georgia, and Alaska.

In their presentation, the senior government classes assumed the position of a committee in the state legislature and delegated Dan DeGrand to be chairman. DeGrand requested a committee of six to present the facts pro and con, and then led a discussion from the floor.

Danny Writes '30'

Lester Allen Danielson is retiring at the end of this month after 44 years with the Escanaba Daily Press. It has provided the employment for almost all of his career in journalism and it has been a very useful and distinguished career.

It would be as difficult to think of Danny associated with "yellow" journalism of any kind as to think of Galahad in the dirty books business. He met Catherine McLaughlin while he was serving the Escanaba Daily Press as its bureau manager at Manistique and they wed and raised a very fine family. All the four children are degree graduates of universities or colleges and two of the sons are doctors of philosophy.

Danny used to jest that his colleague, Ken Gundersen, had a desk so littered that he should have a Ph.D. degree—"Piled Higher and Deeper." Danny stayed a lifetime in newspaper work and while it has produced some distinguished persons it has made few millionaires. In World War II he was moonlighting, he said, as a veneer drier at the Birds Eye plant, working a day shift and then going to work at the Press for the night shift.

His sense of humor leavens all his work and his life and makes him a delightful companion and co-worker. He is so immensely loyal that he seems never ill because he is never absent, but the explanation is that well or ill he goes to work.

As a young Marine after World War I service he came to Escanaba after serving on the Wausau Tribune to be a reporter for John P. Norton, the founder and owner of the Escanaba Daily Press. After a very brief break-in period he went to Manistique to open the Press' bureau there and he remained there for 7 years.

Enroute to Manistique with Mr. Norton in the latter's Model T Ford the Lizzie's radiator boiled on Cooks Hill and they had to stop and wait for it to cool. Today Cooks Hill isn't much more work for a car than a man-hole cover. Newspaper work has changed about that much, too.

But Danny Danielson took all the changes in his unruffled stride. In 1947 the Press changed from morning to afternoon publication. He drafted the changes in format that removed the 8 column headlines from the front page. He took great pride in his work, remonstrated at sloppy headings and tsk-tsked at some of the journalism he saw in the papers on the Press' exchange desk.

His co-worker, W. F. (Bill) Doyle, dean-emeritus of Lansing lobbyists, who was then sports editor of the Press, changed his name from Lester Allen Danielson to Danny Danielson. When Danny went to Manistique to manage the Press office there Doyle put a two-column picture of him in the Manistique Department and captioned it "Meet Your Friend Dan." It stuck.

And, anyway, Lester is hardly the right name for a man who has delighted so many audiences over the years here with his after dinner talks, his minstrel show performances and Barbershop Chorus singing. It takes a handle like "Danny" or "Dan" to fit such a friendly, outgoing personality.

He created a local cult, the Loyal Lodge of Olafson, with his humorous writings under the by-line of Andy P. Olafson. "Some people thought," said Danny "that my initial 'A' was for 'Andy.'" Literally hundreds of persons—many of them former Escanabans—have visited Danny at his Press desk to ask "When you gonna build the bridge to Stonington?"

If there's ever a bridge from Gladstone to Stonington it would certainly have to be called the Andy P. Olafson Memorial Causeway in tribute to Danny, who suggested so many times "Build the bridge to Stonington!" On a platform of mirth, there has never been a better campaign slogan used in Delta County.

Versatile Danny was a versifier and a cartoonist as well as a prose writer. Sometimes it was Poet Andy P. Olafson, as when Project Pride built the Chamber of Commerce Building:

Ve got a yob & ve can do it
If ve all work side by side
Co-operation is our by word
And ve call it Project Pride!

Every von is vorking daily
Helping out da common cause.
Ve got a yob & ve can do it
But ve aint no Sandy Claus.

Vot ve need is more donation.
Dollar bills is wery nice.
Open up yure big fat vallet.
Ve don't have to ask you twice...

Andy (Danny) always ended his Olafsonisms with "Hoping you are the same" and for Danny we wish that, too.

The Doctor Says:

Not Harmful For Adults

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

Q—If pyridoxine (vitamin B-6) is given only to infants, for hardening of the arteries, as you said in a recent column, is it at 84 your father has pre-would its inclusion in multiple vitamin tablets be harmful to adults?

A—This vitamin is found abundantly in most diets. Vitamin B-6 deficiency is occasionally seen in children and causes irritability and convulsions. It is very rare in adults but has been reported as being associated with some forms of anemia. The average adult requires about 1.5 milligrams of this vitamin daily. Since larger amounts are not stored in the body but are promptly eliminated, no harm would result from taking it in excess of your requirement.

Q—What is rutin? What is its value to the body?

A—Rutin or vitamin P is useful in some persons who have a tendency to bruise easily because of increased fragility of their capillaries. One patient who had repeated hemorrhages in the whites of her eyes was greatly benefited by taking this vitamin.

Q—My father, 84, was told by his doctor that he had pre-senile arteriosclerosis. Will this affect his mind?

A—Arteriosclerosis and ar-

IN A FEW YEARS, Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh won't have to campaign to win elections. All he'll have to do is solicit support from his family, which has grown to eight. Front row, from left, are Mrs. Cavanagh holding Elizabeth Angela, who will be one in June, Philip 4; Mary Therese 7; Mayor Cavanagh, and Jerome Celestin 3; Back row, from left are David 10; Mark 12; Christopher 6; and Patrick 11.

Lawyer, Mayor, Candidate:

Jerome P. Cavanagh -- A Biography

Jerome Patrick Cavanagh, who will oppose former Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams for the Democratic senatorial nomination, was only 33 years old in 1961 when he was first elected Mayor of Detroit.

He is 37 now and already has gained a reputation as one of the nation's foremost spokesmen on urban affairs.

A native Detroit, Cavanagh has been credited with saving Detroit's municipal government from fiscal disaster and with providing bold, aggressive leadership that has resulted in Detroit's dramatic rebirth.

Theodore H. White, writing in Life Magazine, said, "Jerome Cavanagh glows with the engaging freshness of the young new politician. His perspectives for the nation's fifth-largest city are large and visionary."

A practicing attorney before he entered political life, Cavanagh gained an upset victory over incumbent Mayor Louis

Plan for a 200-acre cultural complex.

Modernizing the Police Department by providing the latest technological equipment and by establishing the highly effective Tactical Mobile Unit.

Bringing new management techniques into municipal government and accelerating the conversion to computer systems.

Making Detroit one of the leading recipients of Federal funds for local projects.

Because he insists on "getting things done," on "seeking new ideas and new approaches" and on "anticipating problems rather than reacting to them," Cavanagh has come to be regarded as a man of action.

His special brand of leadership was expressed in Detroit's designation as the sole American city to bid for the 1968 and 1972 Olympic Games. Although finishing second to Mexico City for the 1968 Olympiad, Detroit's presentation in 1963 to the International Olympic Committee in Baden-Baden, Germany, was rated the most outstanding.

Cavanagh's efforts to obtain the 1964 Democratic and Republican national conventions for Detroit also were acclaimed as outstanding by leaders of both parties.

Honors Cited

In rekindling the spirit of its citizens and bringing new recognition to Detroit. Cavanagh has attracted considerable attention and numerous honors.

In the first months of his administration, he was named by Life Magazine as one of 100 members of the "take-over" generation in the United States—one of the 100 most important young men in the country.

In 1962, he was selected by the Detroit Junior Board of Commerce as the "outstanding young man of the year." This was followed by his selection by the State Junior Chamber of Commerce as one of the five outstanding young men in Michigan.

The United States Junior Chamber of Commerce named him one of the nation's 10 outstanding young men in 1963, and in July, 1965, at its annual Congress in Detroit, the National League of Cities, representing more than 13,000 municipalities, elected Cavanagh its president.

Cavanagh also is vice president of the United States Conference of Mayors, and serves as a member of the National Public Advisory Committee on Area Redevelopment since his appointment in 1962 by the late President John F. Kennedy. With the passage of the Civil Rights Bill in 1964, the Detroit mayor was appointed by President Johnson as a member of the National Citizens Committee for Community Relations.

Praised By Press

Another appointment at the national level came in September, 1964, when he was named to a Presidential panel preparing legislative recommendations to meet the needs of metropolitan areas.

Numerous national publications, newspapers and television networks have featured Cavanagh as the "mayor who woke up a city."

Edwin Lahey, chief of the Washington Bureau of Knight Newspapers, has commented: "There are three mayors in the United States whose names are nationally known—Dick Daley of Chicago, Bob Wagner of New York and Jerry Cavanagh of Detroit. Only under Cavanagh does a city hall take on the appearance of a launching pad."

The Cleveland Plain Dealer said in an editorial: "Cavanagh has transferred Detroit from drabness and confusion into a city of robustness and direction. In Cavanagh, Detroit has a mayor whose intellectual capacity and drive are exceptional."

Cavanagh is married to the former Mary Helen Martin, a former campus beauty queen at the University of Detroit. They have eight children—Mark, Patrick, David, Mary Therese, Christopher, Philip, Jerome Celestin and Elizabeth Angela.

Political Soap Opera

By BRUCE BISSAT

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — For intriguing, soap-opera details, the current Alabama political situation beats anything in the country.

Tuning in today, you find—in two key races—a governor, his wife, a former governor, state attorney general, a senator, present and recent congressmen. Caught in the tangle are an aging Virginia senator and a liberal from Illinois.

Nearly a dozen people seek the Democratic governorship nomination, but the big light is on Lurleen Wallace, wife of Gov. George C.

Under the law he can't run for a second term, but his old bumper stickers ("Wallace" are doing just that.

Wallace, aware his play is yielding some harsh reactions, is making it indelibly clear he will run the show if Lurleen wins. At rallies, she offers herself as a kind of governor-housewife, speaks briefly, and gives the floor to George.

Meantime, stiff conservative competition comes from former Gov. John Patterson, emerged from four years of silence. Attorney General Richmond Flowers and former Rep. Carl Elliott seem set to divide the moderate vote, including a Negro electorate now comprised of 200,000 registrants.

On the Republican side, popular Rep. James Martin sweeps toward the governorship nomination due in a July party convention.

He thirsted for Democratic Sen. John Sparkman, who in 1965 looked an easy conquest. But by early February, Martin had bowed to months of pressure to get into the statehouse battle.

Perhaps the turn came when Martin, touring Viet Nam in early November, got a cable from a good Alabama business friend. It urged him "not to refuse to consider" running for governor. Back home by Nov. 25, he found wide assumption he was a candidate. A few weeks ago, he stopped talking of the Senate race.

Some of Martin's friends say the pressure to switch came from county leaders and other party officials eager to build a winning GOP in Alabama down to the sheriffs' level. They see Martin a star.

Democratic confusion seemed to offer the Republicans a golden chance to seize the governor's chair. Alabama money sources prepared to loosen their purse strings to fuel the effort. The same Martin friends add that these developments threatened to siphon funds from a possible Martin Senate campaign.

Other Martin people insist, however, that the vital pressure for the switch came largely from Alabama businessmen, not party professionals. And there is evidence the business community, in Alabama and beyond, may be interested in more than building the GOP by putting Jim Martin in the Montgomery statehouse.

Sources in Washington are hearing from northern businessmen, among others who do not want John Sparkman beaten.

Should Democratic Sen. A. Willis Robertson of Virginia, now 78, either be defeated this year or retire later on, his Senate Banking and Currency Committee chairmanship—important to business—would be thrown open.

Sparkman is next in line. But behind him stands Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois, whose "truth in lending" proposals send shivers through bankers and businessmen. They bet he will survive his own tough race this fall with Republican Charles Percy.

Alabama businessmen this year have a Sparkman committee. Since these men refused even a dime to any potential party rival, Sparkman has no fight for the May 3 primary. The yet-unnamed Republican who will buck him in Martin's stead may also have money trouble.

Not all Arabs live in tents. That is true only of the estimated 78 per cent of the population who are Bedouins.

Ann Landers

Dad's Probably Busy, Just Show Him This

Dear Ann Landers: I am 11 years old but I need help as bad as any grownup who ever wrote to you.

My sister is 15 and she is very beautiful. I am just average looking. If I was in a different family it wouldn't be so noticeable, but with a beautiful sister it keeps coming up all the time.

My father has always carried a picture of my sister in his wallet but he never carried a picture of me. I don't take a very good picture so I thought maybe if I took a really good one and gave it to him he would carry it.

Three weeks ago I took the money I had saved and I went to a photographer. I left my glasses off and smiled with my mouth closed so my braces wouldn't show. The picture came out good I thought.

When I gave it to my father he said it was nice and thanked me for it. But Ann, he didn't put it in his wallet. It is still in the bureau drawer.

Should it matter that much that I am not beautiful? After all, I am his daughter just like my sister is. Is there anything I can say to get him to carry my picture? — HURT FEELINGS

Dear Hurt Feelings: I'll bet your dad is one of those busy men who has a lot on his mind. He probably meant to put your picture in his wallet and forgot. Show him this column, honey, and you will see that I am right.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband's sister is one of those sexy but dumb women (age 24) who attracts worthless men like a magnet. She was married at 18, divorced at 20, and now she is mixed up with a professional hockey player whose wife is in a mental hospital.

My sister-in-law told me last night that she is pregnant and the man wants to marry her but he can't divorce his wife because of where she is.

I spoke to a lawyer this morning and learned that such a divorce can be obtained legally in this state, under certain conditions—provided the mental patient is willing. This afternoon I went to see the wife and she couldn't have been nicer. She said she would give her husband a divorce if he asked for one—that she would not want to be responsible for an out-of-wedlock child.

What can be done about this mess? — STANDBY

Dear Standby: It sounds as if they have the wrong one in the mental hospital. The wife makes better sense than any of them.

Since the hockey player has never asked his wife for a divorce it seems pretty obvious that he has been stringing along your sexy but dumb sister-in-law.

He is obliged (legally) to support the child and take care of his girl friend's medical expenses. Tell her. She probably doesn't know this either.

Confidential to HOW SHALL I TELL HER? Don't bother. She'll never change. Accept her good qualities and overlook the rest. Conceit is a very strange disease. It makes everyone sick but the person who has it.

No teen-ager is as confident as he appears. Get clued in. Send for Ann Landers' booklet "Dating Do's and Don'ts," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

An Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Tourist Shows Sell U.P. Lure

Ralph Fuller of Newberry and Ken Dorman, secretary-manager of the Upper Michigan Tourist Association, both members of the Michigan Tourist Council, report that the Michigan Tourist Council travel show program was discussed at last week's Tourist Council meeting in Lansing.

According to Fuller, the Tourist Council now goes farther afield seeking potential visitors to Michigan while the Regional Tourist Associations give the direct sell in the closer potential market areas for visitors to Michigan. This year the Council's state promotional booth covered two shows, one in Pittsburgh and the other in St. Louis.

The Upper Michigan Tourist Association leads the region in number of outdoor shows attended. It participates in eight major shows. Fuller explained that the East Michigan and Southeast Michigan Tourist Associations at their booths in Cleveland took inquiries for the state as a whole including the Upper Peninsula. The Upper Peninsula at its booth in Milwaukee show took inquiries for the Lower Michigan areas.

Ken Dorman said it has taken almost five years to develop this expanded and coordinated show program. He said that travel shows direct sell is more important to the Upper Peninsula than the Lower Peninsula because the U. P. has to get almost a 60 per cent new crop of transient tourists each season. This is because a large percentage of the tourists coming to the Upper Peninsula region are motivated by its scenic and historic attractions and come only once.

The Tourist Association Travel Show schedule for this year will end with shows at Minneapolis and Indianapolis, starting on March 25 and ending on April 3.

Sukarno appeared in good humor and wore a field marshal's uniform. He spoke in English.

"Abroad they say I have been toppled," he said. "Abroad they say I am a sick man, nearly dying. Abroad they say I nearly committed suicide. Abroad they say I have asked the Manila government for asylum."

"I am not a sick man. I am quite healthy. I have not been ousted. I have not asked the Philippines for asylum. I never tried to commit suicide because I love life."

Sukarno stayed for two hours. He shook hands and joked with newsmen and criss-crossed the hotel ballroom to speak with dozens of guests.

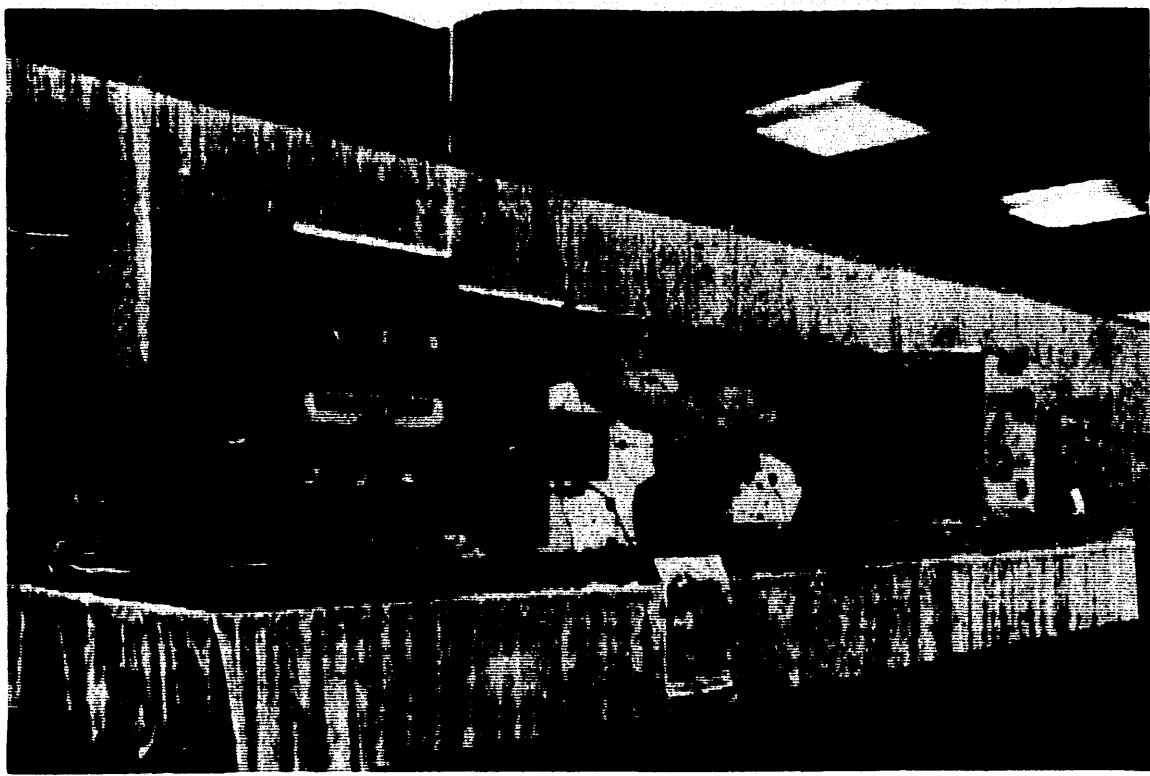

Sukarno retained the title of president after he handed much of his power over to the military, under Lt. Gen. Suharto, on March 11. Suharto has respected Sukarno's constitutional position and officially maintains that the army is acting under Sukarno's orders.

Sukarno's appearance at the reception underlined both his desire to retain his position and the military's wish to emphasize the legality of the change in the power structure.

IRON MOUNTAIN — Theodore E. Hagadone, 36, former superintendent at the Vanderbilt, Mich., public schools, has been named Superintendent of the Iron Mountain public schools by the Board of Education.

Hagadone, who was selected from over 20 applicants, will replace Bruce Guild who is retiring at the end of the school year. A graduate of Albion College, Hagadone received his master's degree from Western Michigan University and also took further graduate work from Central Michigan University. He will complete work on his doctor's degree this spring at Michigan State.

CHIEF HERBERT WELSH of L'Anse, Ted Hentschell of Manistique, show captain, Mrs. Vivian Markle of Au Train and Ken Dorman, secretary-manager of the Upper Michigan Tourist Association, are shown in the UMTA booth at the National Boat Show, McCormick Place, Chicago. The Conservation Department space was purchased by UMTA and staffed by Bruce Andrews, conservation officer of Munising and Bob Gladus, of St. Ignace. As many as 18 volunteers worked the booth on the same day.

British Polls Favor Labor

LONDON (AP) — With Britain's national election only a week from today, all the public opinion polls point to a landslide victory for the Labor government.

Whether they are right will be known only after the votes are counted—in the early hours of April Fool's Day. The polls have an almost perfect record in predicting the winning party in past elections.

Since polling began on a national scale after World War II, 14 of the 15 surveys published in the last six elections have predicted the outcome correctly.

The only one wrong was the Daily Express poll of 1964, which gave the Conservatives a margin of 0.8 per cent of the popular vote in an election that turned out to be a cliffhanger. The Labor victory margin was only 1.9 per cent.

The major polls now in operation are the Gallup poll, the National Opinion poll, the Daily Express poll and Research Services. They give Labor an average lead of about 11 per cent, and it hardly varied since the campaign began two weeks ago.

Sheriff Buback Will Not Quit

DETROIT (AP)—Saying "I've done nothing but good for the last 29 years," Sheriff Peter A. Buback of Wayne County declared today he would not resign his post.

Buback, 55, and his top aide, Undersheriff James Bommarito, 49, were charged Wednesday in a seven-count, one-man grand jury indictment alleging willful neglect of duty.

Buback, in office since 1963, and Bommarito stood mute in their arraignment in suburban Grosse Pointe Municipal Court. They were freed under $1,000 bond each set by Judge Douglas Leo Patterson. He set examination for April 1.

The one-man grand juror, Circuit Judge Edward S. Piggins, accused the two men of fixing traffic tickets and several other offenses, including condoning sales of confiscated beer to sheriff's deputies.

Piggins said he would ask Republican Gov. George Romney to remove Buback and Bommarito from office.

There was no immediate comment from Romney but Democratic Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh of Detroit said:

"Under the American system of justice, a man is innocent until proven guilty. That is the assumption of the law and it is my assumption."

The original request for the grand jury came last August from State Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley. It was designed to investigate alleged widespread ticket fixing by the sheriff's Road Patrol. At one point, 3,500 unpaid traffic tickets were found in an out-county chicken coop.

Buback suspended two deputies. Penalties for the seven allegations against Buback and Bommarito are a year in prison and a $500 fine on each count.

Buback, father of five children, has spent his career in Wayne County service. He was a chief deputy clerk when appointed sheriff in 1963 on the death of 83-year-old Sheriff Andy Baird.

The public is invited to a Benefit Smelt Fry on Sunday, March 27 from 2 to 5:30 p. m. at Herb's Place in Trenary. Mr. and Mrs. Wally Waananen and friends of Edward Hytinen, Ne-gaunee, are donating food and labor for this dinner. Hytinen, son of Neil Hytinen, Trenary, was injured in a diving accident last summer and has been hospitalized at Ann Arbor, St. Luke's Hospital, Marquette, and is now a patient in Rochester. He is married and the father of four children. He was raised in Trenary and served in the Navy during the Korean War. All proceeds from the fish fry will be given to the Hytinen family. Mrs. Hytinen is the former Lorraine Silta of Skandia.

A film, "Martin Luther," will be shown at Our Saviour's Lutheran Church, Saturday, Mar. 26, at 7:30 p. m., sponsored by the Eben-Trenary Luther League. Youth from the following churches are invited: Munising, Skandia, Carlsend, Limestone, Chatham, Trenary and Eben. Anyone interested in seeing the film may attend and refreshments will be served following the film.

Mrs. Hulda Neimi is a patient in the Munising Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Kate Wiltzie has returned home after spending three months visiting relatives in Lower Michigan.

traffic and snapping power lines. The fall measured from 10 to 12 inches between Superior and Ashland. Most roads and schools were closed.

Fire
The weather turned from snow to fire in the Southwest. The strong winds of the last two days died down in Oklahoma, but range fires plagued the state. A fire in northeastern Oklahoma near Bartlesville scorched some homes Wednesday before firemen and residents brought it under control.

Some 40,000 acres of Osage, Washington and Nowata counties were blackened by the wind-whipped flames. At least a dozen fires were reported in northeastern Oklahoma.

Snow drifts of up to 10 feet deep halted nearly all traffic in the northwestern part of Iowa and many homes, especially in rural areas, still were without power since Tuesday night. The blizzard claimed three lives: Donald Christensen, a Clear Lake farmer, and Paul Nagel, 70, of Lake Park, both in northern Iowa, were found Wednesday in snowdrifts along country roads. Mrs. Henry Harms, 74, was killed when a car in which she was a passenger was blown off the highway near Le Mars.

High winds swept into eastern Tennessee. A Kent, Ohio, boy, Sandy Arrington, drowned when the sailboat in which he and three companions were riding was toppled over by gusty winds in Boone Lake near Kingsport. Winds were clocked at 54 m.p.h. in the area.

Interest Limit Bars Action On Bridge Refunding

LANSING (AP) — The Senate approved refinancing of the Mackinac Bridge — but with a bill so restricted no action is likely for months, if ever.

While opponents or luke-warm supporters of the bill called it meaningless, its backers said they'd be back next year to knock out the key restriction in their attempt to lower tolls on the span.

Fourteen Democrats joined with 13 Republicans to give the bill one more vote than it needed to meet the Constitutional requirement of two-thirds approval.

It was overwhelmingly approved in 1965 by the House and now returns there for concurrence in two amendments before going to Gov. George Romney, who has been a leading advocate of refinancing.

Authorizes Bonds
The measure basically authorizes the state to issue general obligation bonds, the proceeds from which would be used to buy up the nearly $99.8 million in revenue bonds which financed construction of the bridge.

The key restriction in the bill is a 3.25 per cent limit on interest for the general obligation bonds.

Rising bond interest rates and the tight money situation nationally means the state could almost certainly not find a buyer at that rate.

The revenue bonds — considered a high risk issue in the mid-1950s — are drawing an average interest of 4.25 per cent.

Refinancing advocates say the present $3.75 one-way toll could be lowered to about $2.35 just from interest savings. Bonds could be issued for up to 35 years.

Revokes Grant
As part of refinancing, the bridge would be turned over to the Highway Department by the Mackinac Bridge Authority.

The key Senate amendment, to which the House is expected to assent, revokes the present $417,000 annual grant given by the state toward bridge maintenance. This is a continuation of the former subsidy for Mackinac Straits ferry service.

That portion of maintenance would be paid for by tolls, as the rest of maintenance now is paid.

Though the bridge opened in 1958, not until this year have any of the revenue bonds been redeemed, although a reserve fund of more than $10 million has been accumulated, again as required.

The reserve fund would pay a $5 million early redemption penalty if the bonds were redeemed now.

Students Reject Teen Age Voting

LANSING (AP) — Eighteen-year old voting lost by a slight margin in balloting by high school students across the state, a survey showed today.

In a sampling by the Youth Advisory Council of the Michigan Youth Commission, 44.43 per cent of high school students were opposed to lowering the voting age.

Voting in favor of the younger franchise were 42.46 per cent of the youngsters.

The vote was 14,467-13,822, said William Street, chairman of the council. Street, a 20-year-old sophomore in political science at the University of Michigan, personally favors the lower voting age.

The council sent questionnaires to 300 high schools, asking the students' opinions on an 18-year-old vote amendment to the State constitution now pending in a House committee.

WISHING WINDFALL—
Alan Nagao, 4½, the Hawaiian boy who is the 1966 Easter Seal child, beams over a mass of pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters and half-dollars yielded up by a wishing well. The well, an eight-foot pool in the Luray Caverns of Virginia's Shenandoah Mountains, was dredged for the first time since 1960 and the more than $21,000 in coins tossed in by tourists went to the Easter Seal campaign.

Mild Weather Eases Problems Of Coast Guard

By The Associated Press
What some experienced hands call the mildest winter they recall has eased the Coast Guard's Great Lakes problems and caused a headache for a magazine.

A spokesman at Coast Guard headquarters in Cleveland said a magazine crew, preparing a story on the service, is trying for pictures of a Great Lakes icebreaker breaking ice.

The problem, said the spokesman, is finding enough ice to break.

It may be bad news to the magazine, but the near lack of ice delights impatient Great Lakes shippers.

Already eight or nine cargo vessels are moving on the lower lakes, estimates the Lake Carriers Association in Cleveland. The Straits of Mackinac were passed Monday for the first time this season.

Accomplishing this was the 402-foot cement carrier Crapo, owned by the Huron-Portland Cement Co. The Crapo, now on its third trip of the season, arrived at Muskegon today after a trip to St. Joseph.

High winds deterred a proposed stop at Waukegan, Ill.

Huron-Portland said a second cement carrier, the Paul H. Townsend, was scheduled to leave Detroit for Alpena Thursday.

Vessels in Lake Superior ports, about 35 in all, remained at their docks, anxious to start down the lakes but trapped until the Soo Locks open—an event scheduled for April 1.

The Cutter Mackinac steamed today through the St. Marys River, which was virtually ice-free.

Someone Goofed

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP)—A December issue of the Joplin Globe addressed to Thomaston, Ga., missed a train somewhere and arrived in the state of Georgia in Turkey.

Two and a half months later in Thomaston, U.S. Paney got his paper—with a Turkish postmark and written instructions for routing it back to the United States.

It has been estimated that 20 million meteors enter the earth's atmosphere every day.

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: When hard-boiling eggs, I like to peel them the easy way. Here's how: Just pour the hot water off and immediately shake the pan vigorously (with the eggs still in it) until they're all well cracked. Then pour cold water on them. Now, watch 'em practically slide right out of their shells. This sure eliminates work, and saves time.

Mrs. Fred Hershelman

La De Da! I'll bet none of you will believe this until you have tried it. But, don't laugh at it before you do . . .

Then, I can just see that sly smile come across your face as it did mine. It was most unbelievable.

Actually, the eggs just sorta scooted out of the shells when I filled the pan with the cold water. I didn't really have to peel them.

Thank you kindly, ma'am. I think you are a genius. And I consider your hint one of the discoveries of the year — since most of us boil eggs at least once a week and always have trouble peeling them.

Heloise

Dear Heloise: I am a faithful user of nylon net.

Besides the uses mentioned in your column, I just place a piece of wet net under my string mop, and it really gets those awful spots up when mopping the kitchen floor.

F. K.

Dear Heloise: I have some suggestions which I think make a world of difference between insipid and real good tasting coffee:

To insure freshness, I keep opened (re-capped) cans of coffee in my refrigerator. When making percolated coffee, I always start with cold water. I measure a heaping coffee-spoonful of coffee for each cup, and add an extra "one for the pot."

For good, strong coffee, I let it perk at least 15 minutes. If using an automatic coffee maker, I set it on "stronger." If you like your coffee milder, percolate it for a shorter time — but use the same amount of coffee.

I use a drip-grind in my percolator, since it make stronger coffee.

I make only enough for one time, and never reheat it.

It is most important to keep the coffee pot clean. After each use, I wash and dry each part thoroughly, and do not put it back together — instead I leave it out to air between uses.

Dear Heloise: What would you do if you stepped on some chewing gum, and it go all over your shoe?

M. L. I would put the shoe (this also works on clothing) in a plastic bag, put it in my freezer, and leave it there all day.

Then, when I remove it from the freezer, the gum would be frozen solid, and I could flick it off with a dull knife, or my fingernail.

McNamara Is Hospitalized

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., was reported today to be ill but not in critical condition. He entered Bethesda Naval Hospital March 11.

A statement from his office said his condition became worse Tuesday as a result of complications arising from a blood clot.

Doctors said the clot had affected a lung, creating a pleurisy condition. However, fluid was removed from the lung and the senator was reported as resting comfortably and eating his meals.

The statement quoted doctors as saying his condition is not critical. The doctors can't say how long he will be required to remain in the hospital, aides said.

Because of his illness, McNamara will be forced to miss a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner in Detroit Saturday night which was planned in part as a testimonial to his two terms as a senator.

McNamara had announced Feb. 23 that he would not seek re-election this year. As a result, G. Mennen Williams, a former governor of Michigan and a former assistant secretary of state, and Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh of Detroit announced they will seek the Democratic nomination for the Senate.

Rep. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., has announced he will seek the Republican nomination for the seat.

Where Health Dollars Go

PRIVATE FUNDS are the source of almost three quarters of national health expenditures in 1964, $27.2 billion as against $9.5 billion in public funds. Use also varies greatly, with the biggest share of private funds going to professional personnel in private practice while it is hospital care which takes the biggest bite in public money. The most noticeable change indicated in Newscharts of shifting expenditure percentages from 1950 to 1964 is the jump in the medical research effort with public funds, from 2.3 to 12.3 per cent of the total.

Arraign Youth On Rape Count

A 20-year-old Escanaba youth demanded examination Wednesday when arraigned before Justice A. J. Mortier of Gladstone on a charge of statutory rape.

William James Leach, Old State Rd., Escanaba, was released on $300 bond pending hearing on the charge April 14.

State Police said Leach was arrested after a beer party at a cabin near Nahma involving four teenage girls from Escanaba. Troopers said investigation is continuing and charges may be pressed against other youths.

The girls, two aged 14, one 16, were reported missing after they failed to return to their homes Sunday night. Troopers picked them up at the cabin Tuesday and they have been referred to county juvenile authorities.

Smits Cites State Record:

Biggest Bear 680 Pounds

Bill is the biggest bear in Michigan. When he denned up for the winter, Jan. 11, 1964, he weighed 680 pounds. That puts Bill up into the weight class of a sizeable grizzly.

Bill is 20 years old. He has— for a bear—a relatively placid disposition. Bill lives in luxury, as an exhibit in the Traverse City Zoo. He doesn't have to roam around looking for things to eat.

Bill was confiscated, as a cub, by a conservation officer, having been illegally captured while his mother was off guard.

Waste Of 1000 Deer Charged

California sportsmen talked themselves out of an opportunity to bag more than a thousand deer this past hunting season, according to the Wildlife Management Institute. They did it by largely rejecting plans of the Department of Fish and Game to reduce the number of animals that are overbrowsing parts of two national forests and Yosemite National Park.

A proposal to issue permits for taking more than 1,000 deer in two special hunts on national forest winter range met objection from local sportsmen at game department hearings, in spite of an intensive information campaign. County supervisors in California have veto power over game department plans, and only 325 permits were issued as a result. This development forced rangers to go ahead with the reduction program in Yosemite Park, much like the elk reduction that was done in Yellowstone National Park a few years ago.

The deer are part of the large number that summer in Yosemite Park and winter on the Stanislaus and Sierra National Forests. Cooperative field studies by the National Park Service, U.S. Forest Service, and the California Fish and Game Department since 1961 show damaging overbrowsing on both the deer's summer and winter ranges.

"Animal reduction is a necessary and distasteful task," states the Wildlife Management Institute. "It has to be done, however, when the animals are too numerous for their own good. Starvation and disease are the ultimate victors on overbrowsed big game range and the result is fewer animals than otherwise could be accommodated under wise management, which includes herd control by recreational hunting."

"California hunters were the losers in this instance. They could have had the fun of the hunt. Instead, they forced park rangers to make a slaughter out of what could have been a recreational opportunity for many sportsmen."

"Wildlife management also is people management. And it will be a great day when we succeed in getting more sportsmen to realize that wildlife management is done best on a biological—not an emotional—basis."

ing been illegally captured while his mother was off guard. As the pride of the Traverse City Zoo, Bill was preceded by Fritz, one of quadruplet cubs whose mother was slain by rabbit hunters. Fritz, who was as big as Bill, expired at the age of 26.

The low-down on Bill is provided by Gerald M. Williams, superintendent of the Traverse City Department of Parks and Recreation. Bill was weighed by Harold (Doc) Aeschliman, zoo curator. He was weighed into a crate, weighed in the crate, then weight of crate was subtracted. Doc regretted that Bill, a gourmet, hadn't been put on high-calorie diet for a week or so which, Doc believes, would have brought his weight up to 700 pounds or more. It is doubtful that a bear in the wild, hustling for a living, could attain the weight of a pampered specimen like Bill.

Bill's coat is gleaming after his long sleep. He would make a beautiful rug. You can get yourself a beautiful rug by going into northern Ontario. It is almost sure-fire, if you hire a local guide. He will station you late in the afternoon alongside the garbage dump of a 'pulp-cutter's' camp or beside a creek where suckers are running to spawn.

A bear or bears will emerge. If you don't succeed in putting a bear down and keeping him down, the guide may fire a few helpful shots. The guide will then skin the bear, with head attached, and you will have a fairly expensive rug to stumble over in your living room or den. The Ontario bear season opens Sept. 1, runs to June 30.

Last December, when winter drowsiness set in, Bill retired to a concrete cave adjoining his cage and, when he was provided with a bale of straw, proceeded to pack himself in where the cold couldn't get at him. A bear dens up any time the weather gets too harsh for him and he comes out as skunk-cabbage begins to unfold in the swamps. I've known a skinny bear to select a den, start to stow himself in for the winter, and then emerge to go in search of food.

In early December I trailed this bear for three days, during which time he kept within a two-mile radius. I knew he was hungry because he spent a lot of time gnawing at a long-dead pine, impeded in shore ice.

John Joseph, a fine old Ottawa Indian, told me the correct way to kill a bear. Build a little lodge and put tea, sugar and fish in the lodge. Then go to the bear's home—which would be his winter den—and say, "Grandfather, won't you please come and visit me?" Poke the bear out, shoot him and place his skull in the little lodge. By this method you avoid offending the spirit of the bear.

The best friend of the black bear in Michigan is Carl T. Johnson, founder of the Michigan Bear Hunters' Association, and a member of the Conservation Commission. Some years ago Carl shot a record bear in Manistee County ahead of the Johnson pack of bear hounds, a male that weighed 552 pounds minus its insides and was estimated by biologists to have weighed 628 pounds when alive and well.

Carl Johnson has been largely responsible for transforming the bear in Michigan from an outlaw to a prized trophy of the chase, protected legally except for brief fall hunting seasons. It is estimated that 60 to 70 per cent of the annual bear kill is made by deer hunters, and these bears can be listed as victims of accident. Rarely, if ever, can a lone hunter, unaided by dogs, trail and kill a bear. A bear, when the woods are full of deer hunters, blunders onto a man with a rifle and becomes a rug.

Before the Bear Hunters' Association got going, a bear was killed at any time, in any manner. The black bear is highly vulnerable to trapping. Nowadays bear trapping is carried on only by Conservation Department men following up complaints of a bear that has acquired a taste for domestic livestock.

Bowen Convicted In Murder Trial

CASSOPOLIS (AP) — Roy Bowen, 41, of Chicago, was convicted by Cass County Circuit Court jury Wednesday on a charge of first degree murder in the bank robbery slaying of a Berrien County sheriff's deputy.

The jury of six men and six women deliberated one hour and 50 minutes before returning its verdict to Judge Philip Hadsell. Bowen was returned to Berrien County Jail to await sentencing. Bowen was charged in the Dec. 3 shooting of Deputy Elton Stover, 55. Stover died a week after he was shot trying to stop a holdup at a suburban Benton Harbor bank. The case was brought to Cass County for trial on a change of venue.

Noti Perez, 43, also of Chicago, has been sentenced to life on his plea of guilty in the case.

Shopping Center

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Groundbreaking ceremonies today mark the start of construction on a proposed $20 million, 100-store shopping center on a 145-acre site at the U. S. 31-M 11 intersection at this city's southeastern limits.

Monsieur Jean Bauchet is an art collector and a connoisseur of fine automobiles. He understands that quiet in a car means quality. After driving a '66 Ford XL, he said, "They would not have to make Paris streets so smooth if all cars rode like this."

Who says a '66 Ford rides quieter than Jean Bauchet's $12,000 Facel Vega?

Jean Bauchet!

Pontiac's Quiet Man, who recently toured Europe demonstrating the exceptional quality of the '66 Ford to owners of some of the world's most expensive cars, here discusses a '66 Ford XL with Monsieur Bauchet outside of Monsieur Bauchet's Paris home.

"Such smoothness, such silence," says Jean Bauchet. "Your Ford is quieter, M'sieu."

Ford's quiet quality is the result of advanced engineering features like a revolutionary new frame that "tunes out" road vibrations... the strongest body ever on a Ford. But the quiet ride is just one of many reasons why you're ahead in a Ford all the way. Only Ford in its class offers a Stereo-Sonic Tape Player option that brings you over an hour of uninterrupted music of your choice, on each self-threading, snap-in tape cartridge. Magic Doorgate for wagons (standard equipment) that opens out like a door and down like a tailgate, depending on whether you are loading kids or cargo. Silent-Flo Ventilation (on 4-door hardtops) that brings in fresh air and gets rid of smoke and stale air with the windows closed. Even Ford's keys are special—they're double-edged so they fit in locks either side up. Visit your Ford Dealer and test-drive a '66 from Ford. See how many ways Ford can put you ahead in '66.

You're ahead in a FORD all the way!

Teamster Union May Represent Police On Wages

The Teamsters Union has been designated by the majority of the patrolmen of the Escanaba Police Department "to represent them for purposes of collective bargaining" with the City of Escanaba.

This and other information relating to local developments resulting from the passage of Act 378, adopted by the Michigan Legislature in the 1965 session, was relayed today by City Manager George Harvey to the City Council.

"You are aware that the Act is known as the Michigan Labor Relations Act, and is for the purpose of collective bargaining between public employees and governmental agencies," the city manager reported.

About one month ago the manager's office recognized Local 78 of the Municipal Employees Union, and the Local of the Fire Fighters Union, as the bargaining agents for those employees. The act of recognition for the traditional representatives of those employees concerned was recorded with the Michigan Labor Mediation Board.

Word Is Awaited

"At 3 p. m. on March 15, I received a letter, return receipt demanded, from the Teamsters Union, in which they, under date of March 14, informed me that a majority of the patrolmen employed by the City had designated the Teamsters to represent them for purposes of collective bargaining," City Manager Harvey advised the Council.

"While I was giving this communication some thought, a letter was received from the Labor Mediation Board, dated March 16," he continued.

"Attached thereto was a petition to the Mediation Board from the Teamsters for an election to determine who would represent the patrolmen (and or other employees) for bargaining purposes. The petition was stamped as filed in the Detroit office of the Mediation Board as of March 16."

"In view this development, and in accordance with instructions from the Mediation Board, I am awaiting further word from the authorized representative of the Mediation Board, Carl York, before proceeding further on this matter," the city manager concluded.

Fair Building

The City Council was also advised by the manager.

Because Newberry does not care to participate in Mayor's Exchange of Michigan Week, Escanaba is now paired with Mt. Pleasant, population 15,000, and home of Central Michigan University.

The passenger cruise ship SS South America, carrying members of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, will be in Escanaba on June 15 from 10 a. m. until noon.

Meetings with Cliff Perras, Fair Board secretary, and Rep. Einar Erlendson, in connection with plans for a new Fair exhibition building that might also be used for community recreation purposes, are continuing. The possibility of federal grants to aid the recreation program is being explored.

The Charter Review Committee is progressing with its study and asked for a meeting with department heads on April 11. This is the date for the reorganization meeting of the City Council, and another date for its meeting is being selected by the Charter Committee.

MSU Players To Present Hamlet Here Tonight

"Hamlet" will be staged by the Michigan State University Performing Arts Company tonight at 8 in the Escanaba Area High School Auditorium under the sponsorship of Play-ers de Noc and Bay de Noc Community College. Tickets will be sold at the door.

"Hamlet" is a revenge tragedy, in which the hero attempts to avenge his father's death.

The role of Hamlet is played by Roger Long, a new member of the Performing Arts Company, who has returned to MSU to do graduate work. Long has been in New York City for the past two years, where he studied under Irene Dailley and Herbert Berghof.

Although director Frank C. Rutledge calls "Hamlet" a revenge tragedy, he also believes that it is tragedy of much wider scope.

"The play is a tragedy in the sense that the death of Hamlet; Ophelia, played by Ann Matiesch, and Laertes, portrayed by Dean Kyburz, is an awe-inspiring, terrifying waste. The point that Shakespeare makes—the nub of his tragic vision—is that the world does, indeed, so combine in an inexplicable manner to crush valuable and lovely people," he said.

Briefly Told
Escanaba police have issued a traffic court summons to James L. Ferrari, 209 N. 13th St., for defective lights.

The Delta Menominee District Health Dept. will hold an immunization clinic from 2 to 4 p. m. Friday at the Delta County Building.

Players de Noc will hold a reception for all Bay de Noc Community College students, vacationing Michigan State University students and local sponsors in the teacher's lounge of Escanaba Area High School following tonight's performance of "Hamlet" by the MSU Players in the high school auditorium.

Mrs. Romney Says That Abroad

U.S. Ideals Strongest Weapon

Mrs. Lenore Romney, wife of the Governor, breakfasted at the House of Ludington this morning with the press after a blitz through the Upper Peninsula and spoke about foreign interest in America.

She particularly cited the reaction of the Japanese to American exports as she viewed them on a recent trip to Nippon with Governor Romney.

"Our trip impressed upon us the importance of winning the hearts and minds of the world," said Mrs. Romney, in contrast to the more familiar American impress by commerce and military strength.

"In Japan the governors and the universities were not as interested in our atomic production and gross national product as they were in our training of our children and what we do about juvenile delinquency and student rioting.

"We have got to be better than the communists in these matters if they are going to choose our way. If we don't have more to offer, they won't go with the Western World."

About Our Ideals

"They say that we don't practice what we preach; that our nation is founded on freedom, but that our tourists abroad are arrogant; that we are proud of our affluence, but not of our ideals."

"The Japanese are cynical about their own religion since the war showed that it was used for propaganda. So I tried to give them something about the integrity of America."

"They didn't like us in Japan. They said that TV and movie people who had been there said they didn't know how to record or perform other techniques, and of course we all know that they are a very talented people and highly proficient technicians. They are building the biggest tankers in the world in Japan."

Court Strikes Down Poll Tax

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court voided Virginia's poll tax today and used language that amounts to a bar against any fee requirement or wealth qualification for the right to vote.

Justice John M. Harlan in a dissenting opinion treated the ruling as "the final demise of state poll taxes."

The 6-3 decision was announced by Justice William O. Douglas.

In two other states—Alabama and Texas—federal courts have held the poll tax unconstitutional. The poll tax still is used in Mississippi and Vermont.

Douglas declared that "a state violates the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment whenever it makes the affluence of the voter or payment of any fee an electoral standard."

Fewer Failures

NEW YORK (AP)—The number of business failures in February dropped to the lowest level for the month since 1955.

Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reported. The 946 business failures reported during the month was 13 per cent below the same month of 1965. Dun & Bradstreet said the decline ran counter to the usual seasonal pattern.

Asks $250,000

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A suit for $250,000 has been filed in U. S. District Court on behalf of A. Meade Shaw of Cadillac who said he suffered permanent eye damage after using a pharmaceutical product known as Decadron. The complaint was filed against Merck, Sharp & Dohme of Rahway, N. J. Shaw said his use of the company's product beginning in March 1963 had resulted in eye damage.

Spanish Vet Dies

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Funeral services will be Friday for Herbert G. Eastwood, 85, former Michigan commander of the United Spanish War Veterans, who died Tuesday. He served 13 months in the Cuban campaign as an infantry private at age 17. Eastwood moved to Grand Rapids in 1927 and retired from Consumers Power Co. in 1950.

Hero Honored

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—An honors banquet is scheduled tonight by the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway to salute brakeman Francis Brown of Adrian for heroism in a train fatality. Michael Pellerito, 6, of Holland was killed Feb. 27 when thrown from a bridge over the Black River by an oncoming train. Brown had crawled to the front of the moving locomotive in a vain attempt to reach out and haul the boy aboard.

One reason the Black Sea is so-called is that heavy fogs make its waters look dark during winter.

Area Numbed By Spring Blizzard

The Escanaba area was digging out today after a spring blizzard numbed the region, caused some schools to close, interrupted plane service, and plugged side roads.

The situation was worse farther north in the U. P., but that was small consolation—since the outlook is for continuing snow and cold weather all through the region.

Schools in the city continued to operate although a number of students were unable to get in because buses could not penetrate drifts on some side roads. Farther north schools were closed at Gwinn, Treeny, Rock and other places because of the drifts.

North Central Airlines dropped three flights from its schedule last night and this morning because of the blizzard-like weather. Service was expected to resume on the scheduled flight this afternoon. Temperature at the airport this morning was 13 degrees, the same as in downtown Escanaba.

Only about three inches of snow fell but it was whipped into drifts throughout the area. By 10 a. m. today the mercury had climbed to 14 above in Escanaba with winds from the northwest at 18 miles an hour. The high on Wednesday was 35 degrees.

UPCAP Committee Points

School Aid Usage Varies

An edginess between school districts of the Upper Peninsula and its six new Community Action Agencies administering federal economic opportunity (War on Poverty) programs was reported in a meeting of the Human Resources Committee of UPCAP in the State Office Building here Monday.

Charles Folio is chairman of the committee, which decided at its January session that educational problems of the U. P. would have first priority in its deliberations.

In a discussion of the federal Elementary-Secondary Education Act program, the Human Resources Committee heard reports from Don Brumbaugh, of the Norway Schools, on the inter-action of the Community Action Agencies and the school districts under the act.

Brumbaugh said that there is some distrust of CAP programs among school administrators, and that this was due largely to misunderstanding of the working of the CAP programs.

CAP Overzealous
However he also indicated that some of the misunderstanding was due to overzealous activity of some CAP people which had generated a fear of encroachment on school authority.

Brumbaugh said that the guidelines on the administration of Title I of the Elementary-Secondary Education Act requires that the CAA's be informed of Title I projects but that this does not give the CAA's any veto power over school district action.

Paul Kimball, director of the Baraga - Houghton - Keweenaw Community Action Agency pointed out that an ideal relationship would also include co-operation an mutual assistance between CAA's and school districts.

Ask Guidelines

In its first formal action to implement the ESE Act more effectively in the Upper Peninsula the Human Resources Committee appointed a liaison group to contact the Michigan Department of Education about a projected regional workshop to be conducted by the Department in Marquette on April 12. The group also was instructed to contact the CAA's and suggest a joint meeting to draft a set of guidelines for cooperation between schools and the Community Action Agencies.

The great unevenness in U. P. use of the ESE Act to help finance school improvement was reported to the Human Resources Committee in a listing of Title I projects approved up to March 8 by counties. The listing included:

Alger County $16,432, for two Munising projects.

Baraga County $25,900 for two projects.

Chippewa County, $114,045 for 22 projects at 12 schools.

Delta Situation
Delta County, $35,848 for one project ($13,921 for basic reading skills) at Gladstone and three at Rock ($21,927 for remedial reading, library experience and fine arts.) Escanaba Area School District, allocated $86,000 under the act, is developing projects.

Dickinson, $73,366 for four projects.

Gogebic, $8,727 for two projects.

Houghton, $56,070 for 6 projects.

Iron, $10,869 for two projects.

Luce, $15,388 for four projects.

Mackinac, $19,164 for four projects.

Marquette, $85,859 for five projects.

Menominee, $71,118 for 6 projects.

Schoolcraft, $39,195 for a basic skills improvement project in Manistique.

Keweenaw and Ontonagon counties had no projects started on March 15.

The Human Resources Committee asked its secretary, Albert Halci, to get a report from the U. P. Library Development Committee on the library services available in the U. P. to be supplied to all CAA's under Title II of the ESE Act aids are available for library service development.

Wilt Sets Five New Standards

NEW YORK (AP) — Big Wilt Chamberlain, who led the Philadelphia 76ers to the Eastern Division championship, set five more individual records in the National Basketball Association this season.

The final regular season statistics, released today, show that the 7-foot-1 Big Dipper finished as the leading scorer for the seventh consecutive season with 2,649 points for 79 games, an average of 33.5.

This was one of the five new records set by the league's most valuable player for 1965. The other four were highest field goal percentage, .540; most consecutive games, no disqualification on personals 543; most seasons with over 2,000 points scored, seven; and NBA career scoring total 21,486 in seven seasons.

Chamberlain, who gets $100,000 a year from the 76ers, had one of his other records broken, however, Jerry West of the Los Angeles Lakers, the Western Division champion, made 840 free throws which erased Chamberlain's 835 mark set in 1962.

Celtics Suffer Playoff Defeat

BOSTON (AP) — "We came to play and they came to win," said Boston Celtics Coach Red Auerbach after his defending National Basketball Association champions got off on the wrong foot in the Eastern Division semifinal playoffs.

The comment summed up the series opener after the Royals outthrust the favored Celtics 107-103 to send the series to Cincinnati for the second game Saturday night with the Royals holding a 1-0 advantage.

The Western Division semifinal playoff opens tonight in Baltimore with the Bullets getting the home-court advantage for their meeting with the St. Louis Hawks.

"The money game, baby, we won the money game," cried big Wayne Embury as the Royals entered their dressing room after upsetting the Celtics. The underdog Cincinnati team seemed as surprised as the crowd of 9,510 that they had taken Boston much easier than the score indicated.

Royals' Coach Jack McMahon credited his defense with the victory, as did Jerry Lucas, one of the heroes of the big victory.

Although Lucas and Oscar Robertson tied for game scoring honors with 26 points apiece, Lucas was far from happy with his performance.

"Oscar and I just weren't hitting our shots," he said. "The defense saved us. If the two of us had been hitting, it wouldn't even have been a ballgame."

Mcmahon thought Lucas' play was sensation, explaining, "his timing hasn't been better all season."

Auerbach felt it was a game where everything went right for the Royals and nothing went right for the Celtics.

"Everything we did in the first quarter was wrong," he said reflecting on Boston's sorry performance in which it scored only 17 points.

"We were just as bad in the third quarter," he added. "We cut the lead to three points and then we gave up the ball three times without taking a shot."

NEW YORK (AP) — Gordie Howe, who has scored more National Hockey League goals than any man in history, takes them any way he can get them.

The veteran Detroit Red Wing star, playing his 20th NHL season, scored the winner in a 2-1 victory over New York Wednesday night when a shot kicked off his leg and into the Ranger goal.

It was Howe's 29th goal of the season and the 624th of his fabulous career. Earlier he had helped set up rookie defenseman Bob Wall's first NHL goal. That one tied the game after Ranger defenseman Jim Neilson had scored the only goal of the opening period.

"I'll take it," grinned Howe. "We won and that's what counts."

It was an important triumph for the Wings—their fourth in the last five games. With third-place Toronto idle, the victory left the Wings just one point back of the Leafs. Toronto has three games in hand with seven to play to only four for Detroit.

Storm Forces Tourney Games To Be Shifted

8 - Negaunee vs. Powers Big R Cafe
9 - Ishpeming Mike's vs. Stephenson

Dartball Teams Begin Tourney

Al Kaline, Sandy Koufax, Ernie Banks, Dick Groat and Billy Odell moved into the major leagues without one day in the minors.

Paul Miller Named To All-Conference

Paul Miller, 6 foot 1 inch Escanaba junior, was named to a first team berth in the Great Northern all-conference basketball selections by coaches at the spring banquet held at the Delta Supper Club Wednesday night.

Miller joined the cream of the crop of conference athletes that included Stephenson's Dave Bush, Brian Ouimette of Iron Mountain and Jim Uecke and Pat Miller of Menominee.

The all-conference players were selected on an all-opponent basis by the coaches of the Great Northern loop which completed its first basketball season this year. Coaches from Escanaba, Holy Name, Menominee and Stephenson made the selections. Kingsford was not represented at the meeting.

Two Escanaba players were honored with second team berths. Senior guard Rick Kuchenberg and junior center Dave Nyquist were named to the second unit along with Bruce Weng and Ron Fredrikson of Stephenson, Tom Smith of Holy Name and Dewey Bellisle of Menominee.

Named to the conference honorable mention list were Steve Oman of Escanaba, Jeff Franson of Kingsford, Fred Matz of Menominee, Tom Menard of Holy Name and Bob Mellinger of Stephenson.

Miller was the leading point producer on the Eskymo team that captured its second straight Upper Peninsula Class A championship this season. He tallied 367 points as the Eskymos compiled a 13-6 overall record. He was fourth in the conference scoring list with 131 points in eight starts.

Nyquist, 6 foot 5 inches, was Escanaba's top rebounder with an average of 12 per game and he tossed in 206 points in the campaign. Kuchenberg, a 5 foot 9 inch senior, followed Miller in the Escanaba scoring department with 246 points.

The conference set plans for its second annual track and field meet to be held at the Escanaba Athletic Field Saturday, April 30. Eskymo track coach

Henry Wylie outlined preliminary plans for the six school meet. Conference tennis and golf meets will be scheduled for a later date.

Harold Johnson, Escanaba High School athletic director, presided at the business session which followed a smorgasbord dinner. The president's post will rotate to Holy Name next year.

In other conference action, statistician Ken Peterson of Escanaba was rehired and the fall meeting date was set for Nov. 2 at the Dells.

Tigers Stretch Victory Streak To Seven Games

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Things have been going so smoothly for the Tigers lately that they even got away with giving up a couple of runs Wednesday.

Hank Aguirre and Terry Fox combined for another stellar pitching performance as the Tigers whipped the Atlanta Braves, 3-2 for their seventh straight victory and 10th in a dozen Grapefruit League games. Both Atlanta runs were unearned.

Aguirre said he felt better warming up than in the game but added he was satisfied with his six innings work.

"I was a bit wilder than usual out there, especially on inside pitches," he said. "But I got the ball over the plate on the outside."

Aguirre's toughest inning was the fourth when Ric Carty hit a leadoff single and Mack Jones followed with a double in the right field corner.

Frank Bolling walked to load the bases but Aguirre got out of the jam by striking out Dennis Menke and getting pinch-hitter Jim Beauchamp to hit into a double play.

"I'm happy to see Terry pitch so well," Aguirre said. "This is the kind of game we are going to keep winning to be any kind of threat in the regular season."

The performance lowered the earned run average of the Tigers' pitching staff to 2.38. The Tigers now have won five of six one-run decisions.

The Tigers committed three errors. Both Atlanta runs came in the sixth and were the result of errors.

With one away, Carty singled and Jones walked. Catcher Bill Freehan, attempting to pick Jones off first, threw the ball into the right field bullpen. Carty scored on the play and Jones reached third, scoring later on Bolling's sacrifice fly.

Singles by Mickey Stanley, Dick Tracewski and Willie Horton gave the Tigers their first run in the first inning. They added another in the third without benefit of a hit. Stanley walked, stole second, went to third when pitcher Arnold Umack threw the ball into center field on a pickoff attempt and scored as Jim Northrup bounced out.

Northrup picked up of Billy O'Dell's offerings to lash his third triple of the spring leading off in the sixth. He scored the eventual winning run on Don Wert's infield hit down the third base line.

The Tigers returned to Lakeland immediately after the game. They play five of their next six exhibitions at home.

Frank Howard is ready to head north, Dave Nicholson hopes for a trip south.

They met before starting their respective travels, and the result was a 13-7 exhibition victory for Houston over Washington Wednesday.

Nicholson drove in six runs with two homers for the Astros while Howard unloaded a 508-foot homer for the Senators.

The homer was the first of the spring for the monstrous Howard, but the previous lack of the long ball hasn't bothered the outfielder, who has been spraying enough other hits.

"I'm ready to go north," the 6-foot-7, 255 pounder said. "I wish the season was starting now. I've never felt this way before so early."

Nicholson, on the other hand, would like to feel that his lusty performance against the Senators will help get him headed south—from Oklahoma City to Houston.

The 26-year-old Nicholson is trying to win a job in the Astro outfield, but he is on the roster of Houston's Pacific Coast League farm team at Oklahoma City.

"I'm getting about a hit a game, and I'm not striking out as much," the one-time bonus baby said. "At least they (the Astros) keep playing me. I hope that means something."

The Astros picked up Nicholson from the Chicago White Sox for whom he hit only .153 with two homers and 12 runs batted in last year. While with Chicago in 1963 Nicholson set a major league record by striking out 175 times.

In helping Houston overcome Howard's homer for Washington plus two by Don Lock, Nicholson belted a grand slam in the third inning and connected again with one on in the ninth.

John Bateman and Jim Wynn also homered for the Astros.

The White Sox and Detroit extended their winning streaks Wednesday, Chicago edging Cincinnati 4-3 for its sixth straight and the Tigers nipping Atlanta 3-2 for their seventh in a row.

Vada Pinson and Deron Johnson homered for Cincinnati, but the White Sox won in the ninth on Tom McCraw's run-scoring single. Detroit scored unearned runs in the first and third innings, then won in the sixth on Jim Northrup's triple and a single by Don Wert.

The New York Mets increased their record to 8-3, rallying for five unearned runs in the ninth inning and a 7-6 victory over Pittsburgh. Bill Mazeroski's error started the rally, and Jim Hickman's two-out, run-scoring single capped it.

Minnesota edged Philadelphia 5-4 on Rick Renick's ninth-inning homer while eighth-inning homers by Clete Boyer and Bobby Mercer gave the New York Yankees an 8-6 verdict over Boston.

Bill Bryan drove in four runs with a homer and a single, leading Kansas City past Baltimore 11-9, and Lou Brock helped St. Louis to a 6-1 triumph over the Los Angeles Dodgers with two singles and a double.

Students Needed By School For Truck Drivers

By PHIL BROWN
LANSING (AP) — Since its graduates are pounced on immediately for jobs that might pay $15,000 a year within several years, you wouldn't think the four-week school would have trouble finding students.

But it does. The jobs: driving the big tractor-trailer trucks that weigh 10 tons and represent an investment of about $20,000. While industry is expanding and shipping more, older drivers are retiring faster than they can be replaced.

"Just about every common carrier is looking for drivers," said Jack McNamara, managing director of the Michigan Trucking Association. "Only three or four schools in the United States are doing the job (training) in accordance with the needs and standards of the industry," he added.

The school: Part of Lansing Community College, one of the schools that McNamara would rate acceptable.

Not everyone can enter the program. Applicants must be between 18 and 45 years of age, able to pass the Interstate Commerce Commission physical examination, and have a good driving record.

The trucking industry is very much concerned about maintaining the good reputation its drivers now have, McNamara said.

Marriage Causes Girl To Change

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Yep, nothing changes a girl like marriage.

She seems so sweet, simple and direct when a fellow is courting her. But after they agree to test the theory that two can live as cheaply as one, a great change comes over her.

Her moods vary swiftly. It is as if he were living with a stranger in the house, a stranger with a different personality and a whole new set of values.

For example: She used to hang on every word he said. Now she uses every word he utters in order to try to hang him.

Before marriage she looked like she had been poured into her clothes. After marriage, if he didn't tug and pull and zip, she'd never be able to get dressed.

There was a time when she thought he looked dashing in a bow tie. Now, if he dons one, she remarks witheringly, "Who do you think you are—Joe College?"

They Catch Cold
It was easy in the old days for him to put his hands around her waist and lift her lightly over an old stone wall. Later, using both arms, he could barely budge her off her high heels.

They used to catch fireflies together on summer nights. What do they catch now together on winter days? Only the common cold.

Once she complimented him on how broad his shoulders were. Today all she can see is the dandruff on them.

In the dim past she could stay up half the night listening to him tell about his dreams and ambitions. Now she routs him out of bed at dawn and says, "You'd better get to work early today or they'll probably fire you—not that I'd blame them."

Now It's Bills
When he used to take her out, all she wanted was a small hamburger. When he takes her out now, she makes the restaurant waiter bring her a second big expensive steak if the first one doesn't suit her.

Formerly, they laughed and ran up the hills together. But presently, they quarrel about the bills she runs up separately.

Before the ceremony she promised, "Our marriage won't turn out just like 90 per cent of marriages do." After the ceremony, he found out how right she was.

It turned out to be just like 99 per cent of other marriages. But nature apparently meant for man to be turned by the girl of his dreams into the prisoner of her schemes. That's living.

City Candidates Speak On Issues

Candidates in the municipal election April 4 met in Manistique High School auditorium Tuesday night in a sparsely attended public gathering.

Only the office of councilman has races, with four candidates seeking two posts.

A number of questions were directed concerning the time when city streets and other facilities will be improved and industrial increases.

Harold Carlson, the only incumbent seeking re-election to the Council said the city has had a large deficit, nearly wiped out and plans of Vilcan Leman are nearing completion.

Later he said the deficit had virtually been eliminated, except the "city owed itself some money," as in perpetual care funds.

A report of Vilcan Leman on capital improvements just released shows the city took in $79,612.88 more than it spent in the past two fiscal years and that in the three years before that, expenditures were $19,040.52 more than revenue, for a gain of $60,572.36 in the 5-year span.

Thor Reque stated he felt the city did not have to live "forever in the hope" of getting street and other improvements, that a time of action should be reached and that he favored improvements, keeping tax cost from becoming prohibitive. He also indicated need for planning to offer more to keep young people settling in the community.

Fred Berger stated he favored betterment of the community in any possible improvements. Otto Schubring, former Councilman (1948-52) stated the city is very much in need of street and other improvements, including sanitary sewers, and that he would work for these if elected.

Howard Magoon, unopposed for re-election as justice of the peace spoke on cooperation between the public, court and law officers in the community. Mildred Scott, candidate for constable was unable to be present.

Court Rulings Effect:

Workmen's Comp Help Broadened

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Court of Appeals has ruled in favor of an injured worker who was forced to quit his job.

The state's second highest court also ruled in favor of the widow of a worker killed while crossing the street from his employer's factory to his employer's parking lot and in favor of an injured driver who took the uninsured motorist problem on to his own hands.

The court upheld Judge Henry Beers of Muskegon County Circuit Court. Beers had ruled Paul Larson, an employee of the Campbell, Wyant & Cannon Foundry Co. in Muskegon County, did not—as the Michigan Employment Security Commission Appeal Board held—voluntarily resign.

Larson injured his back in April 1953, and was told by his physician he would never be able to perform anything more than light work—of which the foundry had none.

Lump Settlement
In May he signed a resignation and waiver of seniority rights in return for a $2,000 lump sum settlement. The Employment Security Commission later ruled that Larson still receive unemployment compensation.

This determination was upheld by a commission referee, overturned by the appeal board and reinstated in an appeal to Beers.

Appeals Judge William Fitzgerald quoted court records in which Larson said he had not yet received any benefits, was faced with an accumulation of bills, and was promised a settlement if he resigned.

"We do not deny that the claimant knew what he was doing, but it is another thing to say he had a tenable alternative," Fitzgerald said.

Aaron Jean, an hourly rated employee of Chrysler Corp., was struck by an automobile and killed in January 1962 while crossing Mound Road after work to get from the plant to the parking lot.

Out Of Employment
Fitzgerald upheld the appeal board, in its award of workmen's compensation benefits to Jean's widow, Hazel, and their two children. The board ruled that the fatal injuries arose "out of" and in the "course of" his employment.

Chrysler appealed.

Fitzgerald ruled that Jean was, in effect, still on his employer's premises when killed under terms of a 1954 amendment to the Compensation Act which said:

"Every employee while going to or from his work while on the premises, and within a reasonable time before and after his working hours, shall be presumed to be in the course of his employment."

Instituted Suit

Appeal's Judge Thomas Giles Kavanagh overturned a ruling by Judge Eugene Snow Huff of Saginaw County Circuit Court.

Huff had ruled that Donald Bielski could not recover $10,000 damages from Wolverine Insurance Co., under an uninsured motorist clause in his policy.

Bielski said he waited a year before instituting suit on his own against an uninsured motorist, during which time the insurance company failed to take action to recover damages.

The firm had disputed Bielski's claim. After Bielski got a court judgment against the uninsured motorist, he filed suit against Wolverine to recover the $10,000.

The firm said Bielski had failed to meet a policy requirement that he submit to arbitration in his disputed case. Bielski said he asked for arbitration and that the firm still failed to act—thus waiving its right to invoke the policy requirement.

It is possible for a firm to waive its rights by non-action, Kavanagh said.

BARK RIVER — In a transaction recently completed, the Bark River-Harris School District purchased $38,000 of outstanding bonds on the District's Elementary School.

The funds which were accumulated through the investment of tax collections for the Debt Retirement fund and accumulated over the last six years, were cleared for this purpose by the District's legal council in Lansing. This move will allow the Bark River-Harris system to save its constituent tax payers approximately $2,500 on the purchase price of the Bonds, and almost $35,000 in interest payments over the period of the Bond program.

The total effect of this financial maneuver will be realized when the Elementary School Debt is paid off at least two years ahead of schedule, School Board officials stated, at a savings of almost 17 mills over the two year period.

"We believe this again shows the over-all community effort to provide quality education for the Bark River-Harris students," said Supt. Richard Hendra. "Our only regret is that the constituents cannot realize these savings immediately."

Currently, 8.2 mills are being levied to meet the $500,000 bond issue, passed in 1959. It provides a new elementary building which houses approximately 531 K-8 students, gym and central kitchen. Including the bonds purchased, $93,000 of the actual debt has now been paid, not including interest, with another $10,000 payment scheduled for July 1, 1966.

Scenic Highway Route Proposed

LANSING — Route for the first two-mile section of a 31-mile scenic highway between Brimley and highway M-123 in Chippewa County has been proposed by the State Highway Dept. and U. S. Forest Service.

The proposed 24-foot gravel-surfaced roadway will transverse primarily U. S. Forest Service lands. Bids are scheduled to be taken late this year.

According to State Highway Director Howard E. Hill, the route would be part of a planned scenic highway along Lake Superior from Brimley to Munising.
